Report of Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the members of the Society was held at the Home, No. 367 McDonough Street, Brooklyn, on the evening of January 28th, 1884. The night was inclement, a snow storm prevailing, yet a large number of the members were present. Mr. William I. Preston, on invitation, presided, and, on motion of Mr. Robert Proddow, Mr. H. C. M. Ingraham was elected Secretary. The Rev. C. W. Millan, read a portion of the Scriptures and led the meeting in prayer. Mrs. H. C. M. Ingraham, on behalf of the Board of Managers, proposed certain amendments to the Constitution, which were adopted, and the Constitution was so amended as to read as appears on page 25.

The report of the Corresponding Secretary, Miss Young, was read and approved, and ordered to be printed in the Annual Report. See page 11.

The report of the Treasurer, Mrs. C. E. Taft, was read and approved, and may be found on page 13.

Mrs. J. Y. Tuthill, on behalf of the nominating committee, made nominations for managers of the Home for the coming year. Those nominated were elected, and their names and church connections appear on page 8.

The meeting was addressed by the Rev. W. L. Phillips, the Rev. W. V. Kelley, and the Rev. Thomas Stephenson, and also favored with a recitation by Miss Ida Treadwell and singing led by Mr. E. McDonald.

At the request of the company, thanks were expressed by the President to those who had addressed the meeting, and to Miss Treadwell and Mr. McDonald, for contributing so greatly to the general happiness of the occasion; and the gift to the Home of a beautiful copy of the Holy Bible and the Methodist Hymnal, presented by Mr. J. M. Phillips of St. John's Church, was also thankfully acknowledged by the President.

H. C. M. INGRAHAM, Secretary.

Secretary's Annual Report.

During the past year the Methodist Episcopal Home for the Aged and Infirm was devised, incorporated, organized, and a building secured adapted to the present need of the Society. In recording these rapid strides the Society recognizes with gratitude the assistance rendered by influential friends in high places abroad, combined with patient labor and much sacrifice of personal comfort by those at home. The immediate cause of the projection of the scheme, at this time, was the case of a member of Pacific Street Church, aged and friendless—with the exception of her church relations—for whom there seemed to be no room in any of the institutions in the city. Some years ago—fifteen or more—the matter was broached, but the time was not ripe for it, and its imperative need was not felt. Now it was different, and those to whom Mrs. A. A. Ayres and Mr. Stephenson mentioned the circumstances were willing to throw themselves heart and soul into the undertaking. The Home is now established; the various Methodist Churches in the city have become deeply interested in it, and have evidently resolved that it shall be a real Home for those who shall dwell within its walls.

The report for the first year is necessarily incomplete. Many of the committees arranged for by the constitution were not called into action, and consequently have no report to make; such are those that will be needed in the daily running of the Home. Some, however, make a report that reaches the eye at once, and does not need to be told to the ear; such is the committee on house-furnishing, whose labor was greatly aided by the generous response of our friends on "Donation Day" and since. The Methodists, and indeed the Christian public of Brooklyn and New York, have expressed their interest in the Home by valuable gifts of furniture. Articles received up to the first of January will be published in the forthcoming report, while those received after that date will be acknowledged by letter, and more formally in the report of next year. The committee on securing a building were persevering and unselfish in their efforts, and the result speaks for itself. This committee was created when the necessity arose. The committee on printing has also done good work; as the fine set of books for the use of the institution proves. The application committee have no cause to doubt the necessity for the Home. Opened only in December, there are already many applicants; these not including the lady whose necessities led to the organization of the Home. She died during the summer, without deriving any benefit from the institution which, in a degree, owed its existence to her.

Finally, the managers have found the work delightful; feeling that it has brought together, in a common interest, those who have found the intercourse with congenial friends pleasant and profitable.

MISS MARTHA YOUNG,

Corresponding Secretary.

Brooklyn, N. Y., January 28th, 1884.
